

The Nature of the Law— and the Role of Citizenship

By Rev. Robert John Araujo, S.J., Loyola's John Courtney Murray, S.J., University Professor

SAVE THE DATE • THURSDAY, OCTOBER 25, 2012

The lecture will offer an explanation of what the law is about and what it is not about for an authentic democracy. While many citizens may think that they do not have—even in a democracy—a role in the making, application, and interpretation of the law, the lecture will provide some insight into why citizens do and must maintain their role in the legal enterprise.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 25 • 5PM

The lecture is free and open to the Loyola community and the public. A reception will follow the lecture.
